

Requirements and Design

Terminology:

- Current User - is the user of the program, likened to "me".
 - This includes unregistered "guest" users.
- Selected User - is the user the current user is visiting.
 - The Selected User can also be the Current user, if the current user is visiting one's own user page.
- Selected World - is the world the current user is visiting.
- Post - Sending/Sent messages from the User bulletin board.
- Message - Sending/Sent messages from the World bulletin board.
- Home page - Main page of the selected user or world.
- Root page - Main page of the website itself, not associated with the world or user.

Structure

1. Left Sidebar - Selected User
2. Left Sidebar - Selected World
3. Navbar - Guest
4. Navbar - User
5. Page - Root Page
6. Page - Search
7. Page - Selected User
8. Page - Selected User/Bulletin

9. Page - Selected User/Characters
10. Page - Selected User/Worlds
11. Page - Current User/Profile
12. Page - Selected World
13. Page - Selected World/Bulletin
14. Page - Selected World/Characters
15. Page - Selected User/Add World
16. Page - Selected World/Add Character
17. Page - Selected World/Members

1. Left Sidebar - Selected User

- 1.1. The sidebar shall only appear when the current user is in a page of the selected user page. This includes the following pages:
 - 1.1.1. Selected User (Main page)
 - 1.1.2. Selected User/Bulletin
 - 1.1.3. Selected User/Characters
 - 1.1.4. Selected User/Worlds
- 1.2. The sidebar shall display the icon of the selected user, defined by the Profile page of the selected user.
- 1.3. The sidebar shall provide a link to allow access to view the Main page of the selected user.
- 1.4. The sidebar shall provide a link to allow access to view the Bulletin page of the selected user.
- 1.5. The sidebar shall provide a link to allow access to view the Characters page of the selected user.
- 1.6. The sidebar shall provide a link to allow access to view the Worlds page of the selected user.

2. Left Sidebar - Selected World

- 2.1. The sidebar shall only appear when the current user is in a page associated with a selected world. This includes the following:
 - 2.1.1. Selected World (Main page)
 - 2.1.2. Selected World/Bulletin
 - 2.1.3. Selected World/Characters
 - 2.1.4. Selected World/Characters/Character
 - 2.1.5. Selected World/Members
- 2.2. The sidebar shall display the icon of the world, defined in the Main page of the selected world.
- 2.3. The sidebar shall provide a link to allow access to view the Main page of the selected world.
- 2.4. The sidebar shall provide a link to allow access to view the Bulletin page of the selected world.

- 2.5. The sidebar shall provide a link to allow access to view the Characters page of the selected world.
- 2.6. The sidebar shall provide a link to allow access to view the Members page of the selected world.

3. Navbar - Guest

- 3.1. The navbar shall allow the current user to input the username, email and password to generate a new user.
- 3.2. The navbar shall generate a new ID for a new user.
- 3.3. The navbar shall allow an existing user to log in using their username and password.
- 3.4. The navbar shall provide a search menu to allow the current user to enter a search query.
- 3.5. The navbar shall provide access to the link to the main homepage of the website.

4. Navbar - User

- 4.1. The sidebar shall provide a link to allow access to view the Main page of the current user.
- 4.2. The sidebar shall provide a link to allow access to view the Bulletin page of the current user.
- 4.3. The sidebar shall provide a link to allow access to view the Characters page of the current user.
- 4.4. The sidebar shall provide a link to allow access to view the Worlds page of the current user.
- 4.5. The sidebar shall provide a link to allow access to edit profile information of the current user.
- 4.6. The navbar shall provide a search menu to allow the current user to enter a search query.
- 4.7. The sidebar shall display the icon of the selected user, defined by the Profile page of the selected user.
- 4.8. The navbar shall provide access to the main homepage of the website.
- 4.9. The navbar shall allow the current user to log out.

5. Page - Main

- 5.1. The front page shall allow the current user to view a list of latest worlds and characters of any source at the time of visit as items to be clicked.
- 5.2. The items of the front page shall provide access to the page they correspond to, be it a world if it is a world, or a world's character if it is a character.
- 5.3. The items of the front page shall provide a link to the user that created the item of the front page, be it a world or a character.

6. Page - Search

- 6.1. The search page shall allow the current user to send a query to get the list of characters and worlds that match a given query, as items to be clicked.

- 6.2. The Search page shall always search globally, across all worlds and users, even if the search is activated within a selected user or a world page.
- 6.3. The search page shall allow the current user to filter search information by type, be it users, worlds or characters.
- 6.4. The items of the search page shall provide access to the page they correspond to, be it a world if it points to a world, a selected user if it points to a user, or a world's character if it points to a character.

7. Page - Selected User

- 7.1. The selected user page shall provide a short description that can be edited if the selected user is the current user.
- 7.2. The selected user page shall provide a modal to edit the short description if the selected user is the current user.
- 7.3. The selected user page shall provide access to a general overview of the characters created by the selected user and the worlds the selected user is in.

8. Page - Selected User/Bulletin

- 8.1. The Bulletin page shall provide access to a list of posts sent by the selected user that are not affiliated with any character made by the selected user.
- 8.2. The Bulletin page shall allow the current user to add a post with a title and content if the current user is the selected user.
- 8.3. The Bulletin page shall allow the current user to select and edit a title and content of a message if the current user is the selected user.
- 8.4. The Bulletin page shall provide a modal to view the title and full content of a post.
- 8.5. The Bulletin page shall provide a way to divide large number of messages into different pages
- 8.6. The Bulletin page shall limit the length of each post at a maximum of 300 letters.
- 8.7. The Bulletin page shall only allow posts with at least one letter to be sent.

9. Page - Selected User/Characters

- 9.1. The Character page shall show the current user a list of character cards showing the name and the icon of the character as defined in the character creation menu.
- 9.2. The Character cards of the Character page, when clicked, shall provide the current user the information of the character.

10. Page - Selected User/Worlds

- 10.1. The Worlds Page shall allow the user, including unregistered users, to view all the worlds a selected user belongs to.
- 10.2. The World button of the Worlds page shall provide the current user access to a specific world upon being clicked.
- 10.3. If the current user is in its own Worlds Page, the Worlds Page shall allow the user to create a world, with the current user as the creator of the world.
- 10.4. The Worlds Page shall provide a button to filter if the world is created by the selected user or not.

11. Page - Current User/Profile

- 11.1. The profile page shall allow the current user to edit the username of itself.
- 11.2. The profile page shall allow the current user to edit the password of itself.
- 11.3. The profile page shall allow the current user to edit the user icon of itself.

12. Page - World

- 12.1. The world page shall provide a short description of the world.
- 12.2. The world page shall provide a modal to edit the icon and short description of the world if the current user is the creator of the world.
- 12.3. The world page shall provide access to a general overview of the users and characters that belong to the world.

13. Page - World/Bulletin

- 13.1. The Bulletin page shall provide access to a list of messages sent by users identified as a specific character.
- 13.2. The Bulletin page shall allow the user to add a message with a title and content only if the user has at least one character in the world.
- 13.3. The Bulletin page shall allow the user to select and edit a title and content of a message if the user is the owner of the message.
- 13.4. The Bulletin page shall allow the user to select and reply to a message if the user has at least one character in the world.
- 13.5. The Bulletin page shall allow the user to select a character to be used to send the message.
- 13.6. The Bulletin page shall provide a modal displaying the following:
 - 13.6.1. The title and full content of the message
 - 13.6.2. The character sending the message
 - 13.6.3. A link to the message it is replying to
- 13.7. The Bulletin page shall provide a way to divide large number of messages to pages
- 13.8. The Bulletin page shall limit the length of each message at a maximum of 300 letters.
- 13.9. The Bulletin page shall default to the first character created by the user without input.
- 13.10. The Bulletin page shall only allow messages with at least one letter to be sent.

14. Page - World/Characters

- 14.1. The Characters page shall allow the current user to view all characters that belong to this world.
- 14.2. The characters page shall only allow the current user to add a character that would belong to this world, if the current user is registered, with the added character being owned by the current user.
- 14.3. The characters page shall allow the current user access to pages of individual characters that belong to this world.

15. Page - User/Add World

- 15.1. The Add World page shall allow the user to add a new world with the following traits:
 - 15.1.1. A name
 - 15.1.2. A description of the world.
 - 15.1.3. An image icon of the world.
- 15.2. The Add World page shall allow the current user to edit an existing world with the same options as if a new world is made.
- 15.3. The Add World page shall only allow creation of worlds with at least a name.

16. Page - World/Characters/Create Character

- 16.1. The Create Character page shall allow the current user to add a new character to a world with the following traits:
 - 16.1.1. A name
 - 16.1.2. A description of the character
 - 16.1.3. An image icon of the character
- 16.2. The Create Character page shall allow the current user to edit an existing character with the same options as if a new character is made.
- 16.3. The Create Character page shall only allow creation of characters with at least a name.

17. Page - World/Members

- 17.1. The Members page shall allow the current user to view all users that have characters associated with this world.
- 17.2. The members page shall allow access to pages of individual users that belong to this world.